

Your models don't have a skill issue. You Do.

Everyone benchmarks models. After seeing your prompts, I really ought to benchmark you instead.

PromptGolf tests prompting skill and technical skill.

AI can one-shot only what you can specify. Hidden checks expose weak prompts and missing product knowledge.

Real run evidence

RESULTS

10/10

FUNCTIONAL

5/5

HIDDEN

3/3

UX

2/2

● ● ● checkout preview

sandbox

Cart items

Canvas tote
$25.00 each

2

Espresso beans
$18.00 each

1

Stoneware mug
Out of stock

Locked

Order summary

Subtotal $68.00

Discount $0.00

Shipping $0.00

Tax $5.61

Total $73.61

Place order

Vague prompt 3/10

Looks finished; misses checkout rules.

✗ Invalid promo

FAIL

✗ Stock boundaries

FAIL

Expert prompt

10/10

Edge cases named; app survives.

✓ Integer cents

PASS

✓ Promo code rules

PASS

Agnes AI usage.

CODING TASKS

Generates full-stack checkout apps.

MULTIMODAL

Reads Playwright screenshots.

TOOL CALLING

Playwright MCP evaluator generation.

STRUCTURED OUTPUT

Prompt diagnosis + scores.

The full multimodal judging loop

PROMPT

User writes the task →

AGNES CODE

Builds full-stack app →

PREVIEW

Checkout artifact →

MCP TOOLS

Playwright tests →

BROWSER

Hidden checks run →

VISION

Screenshot UI/UX →

DIAGNOSIS

Prompting + technical

Vague prompts fail because vague thinking fails.

Either way, it's a skill issue.

Start promptmaxxing

promptgolf-agnes.vercel.app